University of Charleston School of Pharmacy and CAMC Health Education and Research Institute

Target Audience

This conference is planned for an interdisciplinary audience of physicians, nurses, pharmacists, social workers, hospital administrators and other interested healthcare professionals.

Program Overview and Objectives

The 2013 West Virginia Geriatrics Society Scientific Assembly, "The Future of Health Care: What's Ahead for Older Adults" is designed for healthcare providers and others interested in learning about emerging changes in the healthcare and service support landscape for older adults in West Virginia. Sessions will address a wide array of the most current clinical, program and policy issues and provide attendees with meaningful information, tools and skills to incorporate into their own work in caring for older adults. After attending the Assembly attendees will be able to:

- ◆ Incorporate the updates and revisions of DSM 5 into their practices, programs or policymaking responsibilities
- ◆ Articulate the advantages and disadvantages of current rehospitalization and care transitions initiatives and the implications of these initiatives on patients and facilities
- ◆ Utilize the updates to the Geriatric Screening Guidelines for Preventive Medicine in their practices, programs or policymaking responsibilities
- ◆ Apply any of the "5 Things Healthcare Providers and Patients Should Ask" at their own medical appointment, medical appointment of a loved one, or with their own patients
- ◆ Identify the key policies in the Affordable Care Act that apply to older adults

Poster Competition

Again, we are sponsoring our annual trainee poster competition with a scholarship award to attend the 2014 American Geriatrics Society (AGS) Annual Meeting in Orlando, Florida May 15-17. The AGS Annual Scientific Meeting is the premier educational event in geriatrics, providing the latest information on clinical care, research on aging, and innovative models of care delivery. In 2011, the WVGS scholarship winner won a first prize at the AGS Annual Meeting!
